Basel, Switzerland. – April 29, 2010 - Solfit, Solutions for IT AG, is pleased to announce today that PBS&J, has acquired and rolled out Solfit's Kerberos based authentication mechanism which gives Documentum users the benefit of single sign on. JP Antona the Information Technology Manager at PBS&J responsible for this project had the following comments:

"After researching the solutions available, PBSJ became convinced that Solfit SSO was the most elegant solution on the market. The responsiveness of Solfit's technical team during our installation alleviated any initial concerns we had about coordinating support across several timezones. Solfit demonstrated commitment to our success even on an aggressive timeline. Working with Solfit's executive team felt like a partnership rather than a business transaction. Solfit solved our problem, simply and quickly, without introducing more complexity into our environment."

'Solfit is very satisfied with the successful rollout of our solution at PBS&J', Jasbir Singh CEO of Solfit said. He continued 'We are seeing a growing interest in both our SSO and Monitoring solutions for DCTM with numerous new customers as well as POC's running around the globe in pretty much all public and private business sectors'.
